PRINCIPAL

College Profile

Introducing an institution like Sydenham College of Commerce and Economics insinuates recapitulating a history of 111 years of excellence, a history that is as chequered as the history of modern India. Sydenham, being the pioneer institution of Commerce education not only in India, but also in the Asian continent has contributed in making India a truly modern and progressive nation by producing a myriad of exceptionally bright alumni who by their outstanding contributions in the respective fields, not only helped the nation turn into a great state but also afforded their alma mater a reason to seek pride. It is not an exaggeration; it is a statement of facts.

As the adage goes that “The origin of all great things lies in insignificant events”; the history of this great institution began on October 22, 1913, in small and borrowed premises that belonged to Elphinstone College. Initially the institution was christened as the Government College of Commerce. It acquired its present name, Sydenham College of Commerce and Economics, in acknowledgement of the munificence of Lord Sydenham, the then Governor of Bombay Presidency, towards the growth and development of this premier educational institution. Nevertheless, the borrowed premises did not remain its permanent address. The College changed its location three times – from Elphinstone College it moved to Khadi Bhandar and then shifted to J.J. School of Architecture – before shifting to the present building in the up-market area of Churchgate in 1955.

Sydenham is a unique educational institution because it has been the first college to offer Commerce education in the Asian continent and also because it remained the sole institute to do so for a long time. The reputation of the College as the finest institution for Commerce education soon crossed the confines of the country and students from Africa, South-East Asia and the Middle East started queuing up for admission. The institution was fortunate to avail the knowledge and expertise of the British and Indian scholars, industrialists, bankers and accountants of repute, who have been on its faculty right from the beginning. Sydenham takes pride in noting that Bharat Ratna Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, one of the most illustrious of our faculty worked as the Professor of Political Economy from 1918 to 1920.

Sydenham is amongst the few educational institutions of the country that can boast of various Societies that are primarily managed by the students with the necessary guidance offered by the teachers. In align with mission and vision statement, Sydenham College promotes optimistic approach for integrated growth of the students by endowing them with intellectual knowledge and array of skills that is indispensable to face the challenges of dynamic and complex environment. Thus, the College is dedicated towards all round development of students by making them responsible citizens who will serve the community and thereby promote national development.

Sydenham College has always been in the forefront of academic excellence. It is noteworthy that, the Sydenhamites consistently bagged the top positions in the merit lists of the University of Mumbai. The trait continues - albeit intermittently. The institution seeks pride in mentioning the fact that each year many its students get selected by the US, British and Australian universities for professional and higher educational programmes.

With such a remarkable record of academic and extra-curricular pursuits, the recognition and awards were bound to follow. Earlier, on the occasion of Platinum Jubilee of the college in 1988, the Government of India acknowledged the colossal contribution of Sydenham College in the field of education by issuing a special postal stamp dedicated to the college.

In the academic year 2013-14, this illustrious institution celebrated its centenary. It was certainly a defining moment in the journey of a hundred years of this august institution. The students, the faculty and the administrative staff put in their best possible contributions to commemorate the centenary in a manner befitting to the standing of the institution.

In view of its position as an excellent educational institution, the NAAC, the nationally recognized body for the assessment and accreditation of quality education, accredited the college with A Grade in the year 2003 and again in the year 2017 awarded 'A' grade to the college with a CGPA of 3.42.

In order to further strengthen the quality of teaching-learning process, Sydenham College has endeavored every attempt to embark various courses both for teachers and students. Sydenham College has been recognized as the Faculty Development Centre under the PMMMNMTT, MHRD, New Delhi from August, 2018. The Faculty Development Centre has organised several Faculty Induction Programmes and Faculty Development Programme in Banking, Financial Services and Insurance sector. To encourage research culture both in the minds of students and teacher, the College has started Ph.D. Research Centre in the subject of Business Policy and Administration, Business Management, Business Economics.
